Out of the know into the known. Out of the skull into the bone.	Out of the back into the fourth. Out of the south into the north.	Out of the lost into the found. Out of the free into the bound.	Out of the scroll into the screen. Out of the desk into the green.
Out of the quiz into the test. Out of the brain into the chest.	Out of the drip into the drop. Out of the go into the stop.	Out of the tooth into the nail. Out of the weak into the frail.	Out of the scared into the brave. Out of the surf into the wave.
Out of the cusp into the brink. Out of the thought into the think.	Out of the field into the pen. Out of the cave into the den.	Out of the work into the play. Out of the night into the day.	Out of the flood into the word. Out of the rain into the bird.
Out of the fake into the real. Out of the snack into the meal.	Out of the house into the home. Out of the friend into the phone.	Out of the truth into the lie. Out of the speck into the eye.	Out of the blue into the red. Out of the live into the dead.
Out of the war into the peace. Out of the pan into the grease.	Out of the floor into the bed. Out of the mind into the head.	Out of the box into the bag. Out of the book into the mag.	Out of the sea into the ship. Out of the map into the trip.
Out of the rest into the one. Out of the cross into the son.	Out of the bird into the nest. Out of the good into the best.	Out of the round into the square. Out of the curse into the swear.	Out of the coal into the spark. Out of the flame into the dark.
Out of the toll into the tax. Out of the wood into the axe.	Out of the check into the list. Out of the dew into the mist.	Out of the sweat into the tear. Out of the month into the year.	Out of the dirt into the mud. Out of the scar into the blood.
Out of the fence into the post. Out of the least On to the most.	Out of the sleep into the dream. Out of the bed into the cream.	Out of the wolf into the mutt. Out of the ditch into the rut.	Out of the torch into the lamp. Out of the wet into the damp.
Out of the loop into the vibe. Out of the group into the tribe.	Out of the page into the feed. Out of the cash into the greed.	Out of the heat into the hill. Out of the grind into the mill.	Out of the gold into the star. Out of the steed into the car.
Out of the fog into the clear. Out of the far into the near.	Out of the race into the run. Out of the bored into the fun.	Out of the no into the yes. Out of the more into the less.	Out of the sand into the time. Out of the flow into the rhyme.
Out of the two into the four. Out of the myth into the lore.	Out of the tea into the talk. Out of the route. into the walk.	Out of the mug. into the brew. Out of the know. into the knew.	Out of the leaves into the brown. Out of the smirk into the frown.
Out of the sight into the glass. Out of the room into the class.	Out of the bowl into the cup. Out of the down into the up.	Out of the yard into the lawn. Out of the dusk into the dawn.	Out of the stone into the rock. Out of the lake into the dock.
Out of the palm into the hand. Out of the song into the band.	Out of the rich into the broke. Out the chain into the yoke.	Out the fly into the sting. Out of the fight into the ring.	Out of the soft into the steel. Out of the stand into the kneel.
Out of the first into the last. Out of the slow into the fast.	Out of the breeze into the wind. Out of the creek into the bend.	Out of the why into the how. Out of the when into the now.	Out of the black into the white. Out of the dark into the light.
Out of the limb into the tree. Out of the you into the me.	Out of the road into the trail. Out of the text into the mail.	Out of the sky into the cloud. Out of the noise into the loud.	Out of the warm into the cold. Out of the gray into the fold.
Out of the plant into the stem. Out of the wish into the whim.	Out of the trash into the can. Out of the soul into the man.	Out of the oak into the elm. Out of the land into the realm.	Out of the moth into the rust. Out of the ash into the dust.

OUT OF INTO

A literary exploration

While I'm not sure this project amounts to anything more than nice sounding scribblings, a few of them have resonated with me.

And in the spirit of not saying "no" for others I figured I should share them.

I hope you find at least one grouping that speaks to you.

AUGUST, 2026

Middle Ground Made
Heirloom Design Studio